About real estate

We are offering for rent office units in an architecturally significant building in a prestigious location on Náměstí Republiky. The building has a unique history and unmistakable charm. Adjacent to the iconic Anchor department store and opposite the vibrant Palladium shopping centre, the building stands at the crossroads of urban activity and culture.

Following a meticulous refurbishment, the ten-storey NR7 offers not only a prime location but also modern office and retail space totalling 5,360 sq ft. The spacious offices have operable windows to provide a pleasant working environment with plenty of daylight.

The building also has a restaurant with a terrace, ideal for relaxing breaks during the working day, and a prestigious reception area welcomes you on entry. NR7 is an example of neoclassical architecture, designed in 1905 by architects Adolf Foehr and Alfons Wertmüller. Originally designed as a bank building, it is now a modern office address. The amenities in the vicinity of the building are of an excellent standard, with a wide range of services to satisfy even the most demanding. Republiky Square is home to many major national and international companies, luxury hotels, branches of well-known brands, banks and top restaurants, making NR7 a truly comfortable and inspiring working environment.
